

Victorian state election 2018

Top 10 worst electorates for rough sleeping

|     | Electorate  | Number of people counted as homeless |
|-----|-------------|--------------------------------------|
| 1.  | Melbourne   | 333                                  |
| 2.  | Albert Park | 80                                   |
| 3.  | Frankston   | 66                                   |
| 4.  | Richmond    | 62                                   |
| 5.  | Geelong     | 48                                   |
| 6.  | Shepparton  | 47                                   |
| 7.  | Mildura     | 28                                   |
| 8.  | Eildon      | 28                                   |
| 9.  | Nepean      | 24                                   |
| 10. | Benambra    | 21                                   |

What can be done?

Homelessness in all its forms, both hidden and visible, is rising in every town and suburb across Victoria. Skyrocketing rents, low social housing stock and increasing hardship are driving the increases. But there are solutions to overcome the crisis.

With the right measures in place, we know that homelessness is preventable, early intervention achievable, and that keeping people housed is possible.

The Council to Homeless Persons has developed a blueprint for solving homelessness – the Victorian Homelessness Election Platform. Now we’re looking for the political leadership to implement it.

